According to her, aside from excellent academic performance, she urged students to have global competitiveness, problem-solving ability, analytical and critical thinking, as well as confidence and high integrity.

"TISSA-UUM students do not have to be perfect, but they must be positive when confronted with challenges in learning and the environment, particularly when learning remotely.

"I hope students will remain enthusiastic and motivated in maintaining their excellent academic achievements throughout their studies and will be proud to list the Dean's Award on their resumes," she said.

The Dean's Award Ceremony for academic sessions A192 and A201 was co-organized by the Student Representative Council (SRC) and the Accounting Student Club (NOVAC). The award recipients' parents and families virtually attended the ceremony as well, leaving their congratulations and words of encouragement in the comments section.
