DPP MISC: About 40 students from the MISC Student Residential Hall (DPP), Universiti Utara Malaysia, were hard at work at the Yan home care center recently. The event took place on December 12, 2015 and it was one of the 'Bakti Siswa Bersamamu' programme organised by the hall as part of the students' social community engagement programmes with the theme of "Your world is our world, together we stand".

The event was organized by the residential hall in an effort to establish and strengthen the students' relationship and rapport with the disabled community (OKU). More importantly, it provided the much needed exposure and opportunity to learn more about autism as the center at Yan houses this special group of children. The chairman of the center, Mr. Haji Abd Rahim bin Haji Abd Razak, indeed was very delighted with the visit and the interest shown by the students. He reiterated that such noble gesture would go a long way towards establishing closer relationship between the center and UUM.

The programme director, brother Qamarul Bin Abdul Razhim, stated that this activity had created awareness among fellow students about the physically challenged, albeit, the minority group, and that these special children have the same right like any normal person and must be treated like one. In addition, the event was also a good platform to raise desperately needed funds for the center.

Various activities were held throughout the one day the programme, among others were coloring activities , self therapy and self-motivation activities, clay games , traditional costume contest and others. The visit to the center ended with the handing over of donations from the event participants to the chairman, Mr. Haji Abd Rahim bin Haji Abd Razak.
