Subject: CALL FOR PAPERS : THE INTERNATIONAL JOURNAL OF BANKING AND FINANCE (IJBF)

"UUM : UNIVERSITI PENGURUSAN TERKEMUKA"
(THE EMINENT MANAGEMENT UNIVERSITY)

24 September 2014 / 29 Zulkaedah 1435H

Assalamualaikum W.B.T and 1Malaysia Greetings!

ISSN 1675-7227

The idea for an international journal was mooted at the first meeting of the international scholars who met in Crete, Greece, at the 2001 conference of the International Society for Banking & Finance (ISBF). It was felt then that there was room for an internationally-focused banking and finance journal to meet the growing demand for publications of scholarly studies coming from across the world rather than from major centres. The International Journal of Banking and Finance (IJBFI) was then founded in 2001 with its inaugural issue appearing in 2003.

Current and past issues are available at <http://epublications.bond.edu.au/ijbf/> and <http://ijbf.uum.edu.my/>

The IJBF is part of the ISBF efforts to provide a publication forum for international scholars in banking and finance to disseminate their theoretical, empirical and applied research through anonymously blind peer review process. The founding editor, 2001-04, was Dilip Ghosh, Seton Hall University. M. Lakehal-Ayat of St Johns College, Rochester Institute of Technology, served during 2005-2009 as joint editor with M. Ariff of Monash University, Australia. The journal is edited in the locations of the current editors' universities. The journal is financed by the University Utara Malaysia which also provides the hard copy print services and distribution of the issues to the subscribers.

The primary criteria during the review and selection process of the submitted papers are sound theoretical basis, valid empirical application and analysis, and contribution to the fields of banking and finance. The primary criteria in the final selection of the papers once the review process is complete are quality, originality, and relevance to the international banking and finance fields.

JBF is a ranked journal listed by the Australian Research Council.
Its Field of Research code is: 1502.

MANUSCRIPT SUBMISSION

Completed manuscript—following strictly the instructions to the authors given in this and the next page—may be submitted either as a print copy submission or as an electronic submission via email or through the journal's web-based portal.

In the case of the print copy submission, please send two copies of the paper along with an MS Word file or preferably a PDF on a CD or DVD by postal mail or courier service (see the address below).

In the case of the electronic submission via email, preferably the MS Word file or PDF is to be sent to the email address of both editors as indicated below. The file name should follow the format of "author-TITLE.pdf", or "author-TITLE.doc". The TITLE may be abbreviated to the first few key words. The "....-docx" files are not currently acceptable since our reviewers may not have access to this version of the MS Word. When the paper is accepted for publication, following the review and corrections, if any, the author(s) will be asked to submit a final file in the MS Word for the purpose of editing and typesetting.

In the case of the electronic submission through the journal's web-based portal, please visit the journal's site and follow instructions. This is the most preferred approach in submitting your papers. Or you can post the paper or e-mail it to Assoc. Prof. Dr. Angappan @ Chockalingam a/l Regupathi at: angappan@uum.edu.my, Assistant Director, Research, Innovation and Management Centre, Universiti Utara Malaysia, 06010 UUM Sintok, Kedah, Malaysia.
