UUM IBS LECTURER SELECTED FOR PRESTIGIOUS SC-DURHAM UNIVERSITY BUSINESS SCHOOL ICM SUMMER PROGRAMME

UUM ONLINE: United Kingdom - Islamic Business School (IBS) lecturer at Universiti Utara Malaysia (UUM), Dr. Amirul Faiz Osman, has been selected to participate in the prestigious Islamic Capital Market (ICM) Summer School Programme (Cohort 2/2026), an executive development initiative jointly organised by the Securities Commission Malaysia (SC) and the Durham Centre for Islamic Economics and Finance at Durham University Business School, United Kingdom (UK).

The programme is 80 per cent sponsored by the Securities Commission Malaysia, with full support from IBS and the UUM Human Resource Department (Jabatan Sumber Manusia UUM), enabling Dr. Amirul Faiz to participate in this high-level international initiative.

Expressing his appreciation for the opportunity, Dr. Amirul Faiz conveyed his sincere gratitude to the Dean of IBS, Prof. Dr. Selamah Maamor, and the UUM Human Resource Department for their continued support and confidence in facilitating his participation.

The four-week hybrid programme comprises three weeks of live virtual modules, followed by an intensive five-day residential session at Durham University Business School in the UK. It brings together a diverse cohort of senior financial practitioners, regulators, policy advisors, and Shariah governance experts from countries including Malaysia, Kazakhstan, Pakistan, and Türkiye.

The comprehensive curriculum provides participants with an integrated understanding of how Maqasid al-Shariah principles can be incorporated into financial policy design, governance frameworks and sustainable market instruments. It also equips participants to critically assess global ICM development trends, identify regulatory gaps and address emerging risks, including Shariah non-compliance and ESG governance issues.

In response to the evolving financial landscape, the programme also examines the regulatory and Shariah implications of financial technologies, digital asset tokenisation, artificial intelligence (AI) and RegTech within Islamic capital markets. Beyond enhancing critical thinking and product innovation capabilities, the summer school provides a strategic platform for high-level peer engagement and international networking with industry leaders, academics and financial regulators from around the world.

Dr. Amirul Faiz's selection reflects UUM's commitment to advancing academic excellence, strengthening international linkages and enhancing its contribution to thought leadership in Islamic finance.
