FAKE NEWS: CAUTION! YOU ARE BEING WATCHED

The management of Universiti Utara Malaysia (UUM) is cognizant of the preventive measures against the outbreak of the Novel Coronavirus (Covid-19) at the University.

The University has taken all necessary steps to ensure the well-being of all its staff and students.

Among the steps taken by the University are conducting health screenings for students who have visited China. And these students are being monitored on daily basis.

In addition, UUM denizens are also encouraged to practice good hygiene at all times such as washing hands at regular intervals, as this practice reduces the risk of transmitting viral infections.

At the same time, the denizens of the University are advised to contact and refer to the relevant authorities beforehand should they need clarification on certain matters pertaining to Covid-19 and not disseminate any information without valid confirmation.

As of now, there have been no confirmed cases of the Covid-19 infection that have been reported on campus.

The spreading of fake news or unverified information can cause people to be in a state of insecurity and panic. The freedom of using social media comes with utmost responsibility.

The University will constantly update the denizens of the University with the latest developments pertaining to Covid-19 through its official channels.

Spreading fake news is an offense under Section 233 (1) (a) of the Communications and Multimedia Act 1998.

Don't be a victim of fake news. If you are not sure, don't share!
